BERUFSBILDUNGSWERK NECKARGEMÜND

Training for young people with special needs

The Berufsbildungswerk Neckargemünd [BBW] near Heidelberg is a vocational training centre that focuses on off-the-job vocational rehabilitation where conventional professional training is impossible, predominantly for young people with special needs.

The organisation currently has around 400 employees and provides over 700 training positions in more than 40 state-certified fields.

Among other things, the students can take part in virtual e-learning programmes.

Also a wide range of special medical, therapeutic and nursing – care services are available as part of the professional rehabilitation programme.

INTEGRATION COACHING

Together we find the suitable occupation

We at the BBW Neckargemünd emphasize our students to give needs-oriented training that takes the current demands of the labour market into account.

We also initiate preliminary business contacts and work in close conjunction with several highly regarded companies and organisations.

Internships with companies take place as part of our training programme and are an important step towards professional life. We have special programmes with national and international corporations with whom we have established a network for internships in foreign countries.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Selecting a vocation is often a difficult task for young people, since it sets the course for their future. This is why we take an active role in supporting them as they take this decision and work with them to review their choices.

This process ends with a need – orientated training (Integration coaching).

In addition to providing specialized and educational guidance, we also offer educational adventure activities as well as consultation and supervision from physicians, social workers and psychologists.

BUSINESS AND ADMINISTRATION

Business and administrative tasks play an important part in our service- and information-orientated society.

At the BBW we offer solid praxis-orientated vocational training at modern facilities equipped with state-of-the-art IT. This ideal combination of practical experience and vocational coursework helps to ensure successful training.

A selection of the skilled occupations we offer training for

- Office administrator
(Kaufleute für Büromanagement)
- Sales specialist for dialogue marketing
(Kaufleute für Dialogmarketing)

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING / ELECTRONICS / IT

Specialists in the fields of electrical engineering and electronics plan systems and networks, and they implement client-specific solutions. They maintain equipment and install accessories and peripheral devices.

They understand the relevant business issues in this context. Their work focuses on service and support.

A selection of the skilled occupations we offer training for

- Electronics specialist for equipment and systems
(Elektroniker für Geräte und Systeme)
- IT specialist (Fachinformatiker)

METAL TECHNOLOGY / CONSTRUCTION

We teach students what they need to know in the metal and construction industry, which is a sector that depends on having specialists who are very well trained.

CNC technology, CAD, pneumatics and other technologies are an integral part of many of our training programmes.

A selection of the skilled occupations we offer training for

- Industrial mechanic (Industriemechaniker)
- Automotive mechatronics engineer (Kfz-Mechatroniker)
- Precision metal worker (Metallfeinbearbeiter)

You can find the complete portfolio of over 40 programmes for skilled occupations in our annually updated folder "Fit for Future"; we would be happy to send you a copy.

VARIED EDUCATIONAL OFFERS

We offer individual solutions

In-house vocational school

At our private, state-certified vocational school, students receive lessons in small groups with an emphasis on projects and hands-on tasks. This enables teachers to respond to each student individually.

The user-orientated curriculum focuses on conveying the theory of the subject matter but is closely linked to practical content, thus promoting competence in subject-related, methodological and social competence all at the same time.

E-learning – virtual professional training Virtual vocational training centre

Thanks to the Internet and other innovative technologies the BBW offers young people with disabilities the chance to obtain virtual vocational training as individually needed.

At our “virtual vocational training centre” we have successfully been training students since 2000 by offering e-learning programmes which let them take part in society and the business world on an autonomous basis and lead to a regular degree which is recognised by the chamber of commerce.

E-learning programmes

A selection of the skilled occupations we offer training for

- Office administrator (Kaufleute für Büromanagement)
- Technical designer (Technischer Produktdesigner)

LIVING – EATING – SPORT

A centre of one's life where you can feel at ease

Living

The BBW provides a variety of different forms of residential options and levels of assistance.

The students at our boarding school live in single or double rooms with modern furnishings, a shower and a lavatory.

Healthy diet

A balanced diet is the cornerstone of good health and well-being. Our cafeteria offers multiple options every day so that our students can fully concentrate on their schooling and relax during their lunch break.

Sport / leisure

Students can choose from around 20 kinds of sport at our playing field and sport hall, bowling alley, archery range and exercise pool.

Beyond that, we also have educational adventure programmes (such as a tightrope park, free climbing, mountain biking, motorcross and canoeing).

OTHER SERVICES WE OFFER

To smooth ways in the professional life

educare – the youth-welfare programme

Our youth-welfare programme educare focuses on youths and young adults age 15 and older who need educational assistance.

The students learn to manage their daily lives independently and take on responsibility for their life plans. Specialists from a variety of fields (including social work, therapy and medicine) support them in their personal development and social integration.

Occupational integration

Since 1998, our occupational integration work has successfully helped employable welfare recipients return to the labour market.

We work in close conjunction with agencies such as the employment office, state-operated job centres, and the social-welfare office.

The focus is on assisting those whose personal life situations have created obstacles in their ability to return to work.

Private 2-year vocational-technical secondary school

The private vocational-technical secondary school is designed for students who have completed their basic secondary-school certificate (Hauptschule) and students who have dropped out of higher secondary schools (such as Gymnasien and Realschulen) after grade 9.

It gives students multiple professional perspectives by facilitating entry into vocational training for skilled professions in the fields of metal and electrical engineering.

Career counselling

Using well-established test procedures as our basis, we offer young people guidance in decisions about career issues as they start out, so they can find the right job after school or university.

If there is the need or desire for a change in career plans, we provide support in getting reorientated.

We offer concrete analyses of test results and professional feedback; this helps identifying abilities, strengths and talents that can be integrated into planning a career.
